Our Passengers explain why 60 Plus Matters

For many older adults, finding a way to maintain independence is crucial to successfully aging in place and living life on their own terms. 60 Plus Ride plays a vital role in making independence a reality. Whether it's getting to medical appointments, running errands, or staying socially active, 60 Plus Ride ensures clients have the freedom to go where they need to go when they need to be there.

In fact, 82% of 60 Plus Ride Passengers say the transportation service helps them reach essential medical appointments, while 63% highlight its role in fostering independence. This support not only keeps older adults mobile but also enables them to stay connected with their communities and maintain the dignity of living in their own homes.

“Transportation isn’t just about getting from one place to another—it’s about preserving independence, dignity, and quality of life,” says Robin Blakely, Executive Director of 60 Plus Ride. “This generation of older adults, whose sheer numbers reshaped how schools, parks, and libraries were designed, is now transforming access to transportation, paving the way for all generations to age with dignity and freedom. Every ride we provide helps our clients maintain their freedom and stay connected to the people and places that matter most.”

Every time a client steps into a 60 Plus Ride vehicle, they’re not just heading to a destination—they’re sustaining their independence and enhancing their quality of life.
